Christmas Unwrapped

Thank you to those who have offered to help.

Sadly, after much deliberation it has proved too difficult to organise this year. There are a number of factors, including so much uncertainty re Covid issues.

The Monday home group has very kindly offered to purchase Bible Society Christmas booklets for all the Y4's in the schools in the parish as they did last year. They were well received by the schools.

We look forward to the opportunity to invite the schools again soon and are praying that this will be possible for Easter Cracked open. Watch this space!

Update on our Administrative vacancies!

Notices: We are pleased to share that two people have offered to take the weekly notices forward, working together as a team. A big thank you to Heather Langston and Hermon Boston! They will be sharing with us how they will be taking this forward and when the newsletter will start up again. Thank you both!

Church administrator: We had a positive day of interviewing on Wednesday this past week and we will be making an offer, subject to references. We enjoyed meeting those who had applied and we look forward to sharing more about the successful candidate in due course, including when they might start with us.

ECC secretary: Thank you to Albertine Davies and Jenny Poole who have offered to take minutes for our ECC meetings – we are grateful. We are still looking to cover the other aspects of ECC secretary so please do consider whether this is you. As a church we are keen to work in teams, so that responsibilities are shared amongst supportive colleagues so please do continue to pray as to whether you might be part of this team, or whether there is someone you might be prompted to approach. Thank you.
